Dear Independent Pressers,

This November event is aimed at those of you who wanted a fair with a small but party-like atmosphere – a fun get-together with like-minded small-press devotees. Because everything will be happening in the same room, the event will be cozy, but also boisterous, and aimed at attracting the night owls of the small press community. Because time is short, we'll need your help promoting the evening, so make sure you tell all of your friends and contacts! If you have a blog or web page or on-line journal, please include us in your upcoming news!)

If you haven't already, join the Toronto Small Press Book Fair Facebook group for updates about the “Small Press Affair/Mini Fair” and other Toronto Small Press Group events.

See you on Saturday, November 1, 2008!
